

Experiential and hands-on: The lessons engage students in hands-on activities that are enjoyable and developmentally appropriate; the lessons are appealing to a wide range of student abilities and interests?
Intellectually stimulating: The lessons encourage higher-level thinking.
Includes evaluation component: Includes materials that assess children's prior knowledge and experiences; includes opportunities for students to share their findings through class discussions, presentations and projects; includes materials that actively engage students to promote their understanding of the content i.e., drawings, diagrams, written journals.
Would you recommend this curriculum for continued use?

Please write any comment or concern you have about this curriculum below.